HELPS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Sometimes eyes get dull from over-work and strain, in which case rest and freedom from worry are the surest roads for the would-be bright eyes.

A small round bathtub, invented for the use of Marie Antoinette, still bears her name. The dauphiness used in her bath, a decoction of wild thyme and marjoram, to which was added sea salt.

Anne Boleyn was the first of the English queens to indulge in the luxury of bathing and cleanliness and baths which constitutes one of the misfortunes of the middle ages.

Jumping rope has been advised by a famous reducer as the quickest way to bring down a woman's flesh. Care should be exercised where the fat woman does her jumping or it may also bring down the house.

When the eyes refuse to sparkle there is usually a physical cause which needs attention. Often it is from indigestion or torpid liver, in which case careful diet and regular exercise in the open air should work a cure.

There is no greater mistake than to try to brighten dull eyes with drugs or drops. Eyesight is too important to be tampered with and even the common practice of putting a drop or two of cologne in the eyes to make them brilliant is injurious.

A nasal douche of slightly salted water is a remedy for catarrh. One half a teaspoonful of common table salt should be dissolved in half a glass of water and then put into the douche bag, or it may be sniffed through the nostril, ejecting it through the mouth. This should be done night and morning.

Few practices are more beneficial to the condition of the eyes than is that of bathing them regularly every night before going to bed. Dust readily accumulates on the lids between the lashes and causes them to smart, an excellent method of cleaning them being the old-fashioned one of dabbing the lids with a piece of cotton well dipped in cold weak tea. A good soap which keeps the skin in good condition is made with castile soap and tincture of benzoin. Melt the cake of soap in boiling water until it is a thick paste, then add a gill of benzoin which has been cut with purest alcohol. This mixture can be kept in a metal-sealed jar and is excellent for the face and hands. If one has a very dry skin, this preparation should not be used, for the benzoin has a tendency to dry the skin.

Natural colored powder to match the skin may be bought of any good druggist. It is much better when using such quantities to have it exactly the color of the complexion. The plain white talcum used this way gives the face a chalky look, which is extremely artificial. If one prepares the face this way every time before going into the open air this winter the skin will not chap. When driving and motoring or even walking on windy days wear a big chiffon veil. Some of the best complexions are preserved in this very way.

For keeping the hands white and soft the following lotion is recommended: Take one quart of water (boiled); alcohol, thirty drops; oxide of zinc, one ounce; bichloride of mercury, eight grains; glycerin, twenty drops. Take four ounces of the water and heat it to boiling; dissolve the bichloride of mercury in this hot water and add all the alcohol. Mix the zinc and glycerin together in a bowl; pour the larger portion of the quart of water in; stir, then add all the diluted bichloride of mercury and alcohol. Bottle and shake always before using. Apply the liquid with a small, soft velvet sponge.

If one's face and hands chap easily it would be well to take special precautions. Use the complexion cream, covered by powder. A sensitive skin may often be hardened for its struggle with the winter elements by the use of cold water. This is merely another good reason for the cold water dash which is always recommended after any washing of the face. To make the mask of cream and powder, wash the face thoroughly in warm and then cold water when you rise in the morning. Then rub in ever so little cold cream. Take a chamois or soft old handkerchief and pat the face all over, to make sure that there is not any globules of oil men left on the skin. Then powder the face completely, using a generous-sized, fluffy powder puff. When every crease and corner is covered use the chamois again to take off the superfluous powder.

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—The Supreme Court, in a decision rendered today, holds that a board of education has no right to bar a child from the public schools for failure to comply with orders of boards as regards vaccination.

St. Petersburg, April 5.—The Harbin correspondent of the Bourse Gazette says the Mongolian princes have petitioned the Pekin government asking for the speedy construction of a railroad between Kalgan, 125 miles northwest of Pekin, and the Trans-Baikal settlement of Kiakhta, which would give the Trans-Siberian Railroad direct connection with Pekin on the construction of a short line between Kalgan and the Chinese capital.

The petition further asks that Urum, Kalgan and Maimachin be opened to international trade, that a state bank be established in these cities and that provisions be made for the defense of Mongolia in case of an attack by Russia.

Vacation Trip Letters

Waikiki, Maui, May 4, 1908.
Vacation Trip Department.

EVENING BULLETIN.

Dear Sir:—My interest has been aroused by reading in your paper of the vacation trip offered, and I am going to get in the game and win an outing to Vancouver, B.C. I'm green and from Missouri, so you will have to show me. Please mail me information as soon as is convenient to An Old Friend and Subscriber.

Dear Sir:—You are the kind of a man we like to meet, for we can just "show you." If you will bring in 25 yearly subscribers, or any number totalling 25 yearly, we will furnish you with a round-trip ticket to Vancouver and give you gold coin for your expenses. The ticket is good for four months. You can start when you like and come back when you please and no one will know that we are paying your expenses except yourself and those you tell. Now what do you say? Did we show you? We are sending subscription blanks etc. by mail, so you can "show us" the 25 subscribers.

Revision of Tariff

Washington, May 1.—Representative Jerome Payne of New York, chairman of the committee on ways and means, has introduced a resolution authorizing that committee to sit during the recess of congress and to gather such information, through government agents or otherwise as it may see fit looking toward the preparation of a bill for the revision of the tariff.

Discussing the resolution, Payne said that its purpose was to enlarge the scope of the powers conferred upon the ways and means committee by a somewhat similar resolution introduced by him last December. "This resolution," he said, "will enable the committee to carry forward with a free hand the work already undertaken in preparation of a revision of the tariff next year. The committee now is and for some time past has been gathering preliminary information from government officials. The intention is to continue this preliminary work during the remainder of the present session and in the coming recess, and it should be distinctly understood that no act of revision of the tariff will be undertaken until after the elections of next fall."

CENTRAL UNION'S MUSIC.

The public is showing more and more appreciation of the splendid work done by Stanley Livingston, Director of Central Union chorus. Towards the end of June the summer recess will interrupt this feature of the church services. Hence every Sunday is precious. Meantime Mr. Livingston is centering much attention upon the evening service. Tomorrow evening the chorus will sing Sadie's fine music "He Will Feed His Flock." A quartet composed of Mrs. Mackall, Mrs. Weight, Messrs. Stanley and Chester Livingston, will render for the offertory "God Who Made Earth and Heaven." In the morning Mrs. J. C. O'Day will sing Dudley Buck's "Judge O. God," the anthem being Bennett's "God Is a Spirit." The chorus is realizing how much it means to have the benefit of an excellent lead-
